ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER

Winston-Salem Negro Calls for Help and Lands in Hands of Police

Lynchburg, Va., March 31.—When W. M. Robinson, a Winston-Salem, N. C., negro, cried out for help because he was being held up by four other negroes early Saturday morning, near the Southern Railway station, he started himself well on the way to the city farm for a visit of at least thirty days. The negro, the police say, came to Lynchburg from Baltimore with about a dozen pints of liquor tucked away in the inside pockets of a bootlegger's jacket. He got by the local detectives at the station, but a little later he fell into the hands of the Ethiopians in a field near the station and when the assailants are said to have relieved him of several pints of liquor and $38 in money Williams let out a yell. The yell brought several policemen, who nabbed Williams, but the four highwaymen got away. Robinson is now in jail here awaiting preliminary trial on the charge of transporting liquor illegally.

SOUNDS CALL TO SERVICE

Hope of France in U. S., Says The Rev. S. R. Jacobs

Staunton, Va., March 29.—"Has the church risen to the opportunity and is it ready to accomplish its present task? Is it ready to receive the boys who have gone through the baptism of fire?" That was the challenge made by the Rev. S. R. Jacobs in his address at the meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, conference Thursday afternoon.

"You can have all the regard for the Hun you want," he said, "but I'm through with him, the crouching beast of prey which cried, "I'll put a ring around the free people of the world."

"Not a hundredth part of the harm they did ever got to the public. The women of France must now pay the price, starving and keeping the home fires burning; it is the women who are calling to the world for help. After their suffering no wonder the French women cry, 'Finish the war"

"The boys are coming back with the same spirit and love of country they took with them. Though they trembled under fire, everybody did who was there. They stood the test and won."

Mr. Jacobs said he did not want to take one particle of glory from the Marines but that at Chateau Thierry there were 240,000 troops and nobody knew it better than the Hun.

As for these two by four Americans who criticize the little petty mistakes in the administration of things over there, let them look what the United States carried to France in food and men without losing a single transport," continued Mr. Jacobs.

"There has been an organized effort, too, on the part of other war organizations to give the Young Men's Christian Association a black eye. There wasn't a camp abroad where the 'Y' didn't go and in all the six months I was at Pontanazon it was the only organization to supply the needs of the boys.

"The hope of France today is in America and she's looking to the American people, to Lloyd George, to Clemenceau and to Woodrow Wilson for the league of nations to prevent another such war. I'm willing to bet that President Wilson will get every vote for head of the democracies of the world, except the vote of the Hun."

INDEMNITIES OF WAR

Big Four Continue to Hold Closed Sessions Daily.

Paris, March 30.—The "big four" continue to hold closed sessions twice daily. The latest report is they have been unable so far to agree on the Polish frontiers. This means that Premier Lloyd-George has not yet been convinced it is wise to include Danzig and nearly 2,000,000 Germans in the new Polish state.

Germany's western boundaries seem easier to settle, but not so the question of indemnities. The former problem was discussed at yesterday's sessions, when the financial experts were called in to give counsel.

The question of the Saar valley is intimately bound up with that of indemnities. New combinations are suggested almost every day. France needs money for the damages wrought by the war, and she needs the Saar coal to supply her industries, the more so as the Germans ruined her principal coal mines in the north.

At the same time it is not denied that the population of the Saar valley is German, whose annexation would not be in accordance with the new international principles. French "big business" is determined to get coal for the Lorraine Smelters."

It is also worth pointing out that England is a big exporter of coal. During the war English periodicals suggested international navigation on the Rhine, in order to enable English coal barges to reach the Lorraine iron deposits. It's like deciding whether Illinois or Pennsylvania should supply the coal for Michigan ore, and when national boundaries, in addition to business interest, clash, it's a battle royal.

MRS. KING TELLS OF "FINDING" YANKS

Engaged by the Red Cross Send Home Thrilling Stories

WORK HAS THRILLS

Workers Are Constantly Searching For Missing Boys "Buddy" Frequently Gives Valuable Aid.

Mrs. Lulie G. King, formerly of this city, who is acting in the capacity of a "searcher" for the American Red Cross in France is sending home thrilling stories of what the Red Cross is able to do in finding soldiers who have been reported as "missing." Mrs. King is the widow of Major James King, this city She recently has made her home in Washington.

"Searching" is combined with hospital work. The worker is assigned to a special hospital and visits the soldiers daily ;bringng them cigarettes, chccolates tobacco, tooth brushes and paste, shaving things stationery, magazines and everything that the Red Cross can get for them. Then each worker is given "missing" list. Mrs. King writes:

"We are constantly searching for missing boys, hence our title. I go through the rooms and talk to the boys, and how they love to talk They would keep a person all day and they have such interesting things to tell. I write letters at their dictation or if they are too sick—at my own option. I get them fruit or books; anything to keep them , contented and comfortable They are all so appreciatve that I never want to stop.

"We are at Royat and have taken over the Casino and a perfectly appointed little theater for the Red Cross, and will have the finest quarters in France for our boys.

"My special boy is a young osteopath doctor with both his legs off. I call him my son; and he is such a dear—so brave nad cheerful. I keep him supplied, with everything I can think of, and the other day he asked me if I could get him a violin. I got it, too,—hired one for three francs a month. Just think, only about sixty cents and he lies in bed and fiddles to his heart's content. Only the first day after he had tried it a little the boys told me he said "O! God, my feet!" And then he turned and said "Don't mind me, boys.'

"What wouldnt you do for a boy like that? And he is only one of twenty-five hundred here."

In trying to locate or obtain news of the missing men, the searcher often meets a "buddy" who is frequently able to give some definite information regarding the last time he saw his friend; perhaps it was on a battlefield; possbly in a German trench; he may have seen the missing one taken prisoner; or lying wounded or even dead. It is then possible to trace this information from village to village until, as in so many cases, the man is found. Or in the case of death, a definite statement of "killed in action" can be sent to the family, sad as it may be.

More than once the missing man has been found in a hospital by a searcher. Think of being able to report that the lost is found! Then the letter at the boy's home telling the glad news!

W. H. OEHLERT'S TRIAL TODAY

Venire of Fifty-Six Summoned From Which to Secure Jury

BUT FEW SPECTATORS

Considerable Time Consumed in Securing the Necessary Sixteen Men—Most of Talesmen Had Formed Fixed Opinions.

The trial of William H. Oehlert, charged with shooting and killing Linwood Kidwell at an office at the Southern Railway Yard, in this city November 12, 1918, was called this morning, after having been postponed several times. Judge Chichester, of Fredericksburg, presided. Commonwealth's Attorney Howard W. Smith conducted the prosecution, and Edmund Burke appeared for the defense. Comparatively few spectators were in attendance.

After several preliminary motions on the part of the counsel for the defense, which were overruled.

Oehlert was arraigned on the charge of murder. He plead not guilty.

The work of securing a jury was then begun. Many of those summoned had formed a fixed opinon, while others said they were opposed to capital punishment, all of whom were excused.

Sixteen men were finally accepted. They were Eugene Bode, Ferdinand E. Cornell, John A. King, Irving Lindsey, Joseph C. Bowie, Joseph Heyman, Smith Williams, E. Shirley Leachman, C. Philip Heishley, Earl Sullivan, J. M. Duling, George R. Brawner, Walter Roberts, Jr., Malcolm A. Brenner, Walter P. Kerrick, and John W. Monroe.

The names of Messrs. Bowie, Brawner, Kerrick and Monroe were stricken off after which the jury was duly expaneled.

Commonwealth's Attorney Smith subsequently addressed the jury in which he recited the crime for which Oehlert had been arraigned. He was followed by Mr. Burke who stated the case from the standpoint of the defense, and, took the ground that the shooting of Kidwell was accidental.

The examination of witnesses for the commonwealth later followed.

H. L. Peyton, employed in the office of the City Engineer was first to take the stand. The witness identfied a drawing of the yard master's office in the Southern Railway yard, which he had made. The shooting occurred in this structure, the nterior which figured somewhat in the proceedings.

Dr. T. M. Jones took the stand nad described the wound of which Kidwell died.

Wm. E. Midkiff, night yard master at the Southern Railway, followed. His testimony was to the effect that Oehlert showed a quarrelsome dispositon toward a fellow workman named Week previous to the shooting. He also told of the prisoner discbarging his pistol in the yard before the tragedy. Oehlerf said, "What do I care for fines?" Later he reloaded his pistol, and witnesses heard Kidwell cry out. Oehlert was not on duty at the time he entered the office. Witness took hold of the prisoner and held him. Oehlert finally promised to return the pistol to his pocket if witness would release him.

The court at 1:15 took a recess for one hour.

The court reconvened at 2:25, when Mr. Midkiff resumed the stand, and was cross-examined by Mr. Burke.

Walter Dammon was the next witness. He is a yard conductor of the Southern Railway, and was in the office at the time the shooting took place. He told of the colloquy between Oehlert and Weeks, in which he aleged the former used unconventional language. Heard prisioner exclaim, "I'm going to shoot up the office," and then discharged his pistol; heard Kidwell say, "He's shot me." Oehlert had threatened to kill witness if he attempted to aid Midkiff in dsarming him.

William F. Weeks who was in the yard office before the shooting took place, followed. He told of Oehlert using insulting language toward him previous to the shooting. Witness was not in the office when Kidwell was shot.

W. H. Posey, car inspector of the Southern Railway, was at the office at the time Kidwell was shot. Heard colloquy between Weeks and Oehlert; heard latter discharge his pistol in the yard; saw him return, heard the shot that killed Kidwell, after which Oehlert exclaimed, "I would not have hurt this boy for anything." Had previously heard him say, "How about shooting up the office?"

Ellis Lankford was in the office at the time of the shootng. Heard Oehlert say, "How aobut shooting up this d—d office?" Witness heard the discharge of the pistol; saw Oehlert standing at the door later; heard him say, "I would not have hurt that boy." Heard him say he would shoot Dammon should he attempt to aid Midkiff dsarming him.

The examination of witnesses was in progress at 3:30 o'clock, when this report closed.

FLIGHT OVER SEA

Each of the Two Crafts Will Carry Crew of Five Men

New York, March 31.—The start of the naval aviator's attempt to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a heavier-than-air machine will take place on the first clear day in May, or as soon thereafter as the fog belt, which now envelops the Newfoundland coast show signs of clearing, according to a statement issued Saturday night by the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association, which claim to have definite information from Washington.

The navy is placing little reliance on favoring winds, because at the altitude of 2,000 feet, which is expected to be the average on the trip available data shows that only eight days during May, and then only for a quarter of the time, is there a strong wind bearing to the east.

Each of the two or more N-C type of boats with which the flight will be attempted will carry a crew of five men, consisting of pilotsfi mechanics, a wireless operator and possibly an aerographer.

"LET US HAVE PEACE!"

The words in the headline were uttered by General Grant after the scenes at Appomattox. It was at a time when the radicals in Congress were at their zenith, and at a time when both sections of the country were tired of war. But the swivel-seated heroes in Washington, who had viewed the four-years' war from afar, were doing everything possible to bar reconstruction and further humiliate the south.

While the great majority in the United States are satisfied President Wilson and others representing the United States are proceeding on practical lines, people naturally grow restive at the delay in bringing about peace—the great desideratum.

Nothing could be more unfortunate than the admission of further delay in signing the treaty of peace says the Richmond Times-Dispatch. "The whole world is crying out for an end of war. Victorious nations, no less than those which have been vanquished, want a formal declaration that hostilities are ended, that blockades are lifted, and that relations, limited though they be, again may be established with enemy peoples, and the powers which have been under the most maddening strain for nearly five years may be permitted, as soon as possible, to return to pre war conditions.

"This being true, and no man can gainsay it, the peace conference in Paris must not, in justice to all interests, allow the conclusion of the treaty to be deferred unnecessarily. Such a postponement has been demanded by Italy. That nation wants all issues settled in a single document. It wants peace with Austria and Turkey and Bulagria included in the pact which will make peace with Germany. The Italian demand has been laid before the conference and reports indicate that it has been practically acquiesced in.

There can be no objection to this provided it does not hold up for another long perid the signing of the treaty. Correspondents in Paris insist that the granting of Italy's ultimatum involves serious delays. It promises new complications. It means a redrafting of the whole document. America, for example, is not at war with Turkey and Bulgaria. This fact adds to the complexities of the situation, it is pointed out, and may have its embarrassments for the American commissioners."

GERMANY WILL SIGN

It is difficult to regard seriously the reports that Germany may, after all, refuse to sign the terms of peace imposed by the Paris conference.

That the Huns will be unwilling to sign is known to all the world. They are, at heart, unwilling to sign anything that will fall short of making Germany the military master of a prostrate world.

This time Germany cannot have anything it wants—save peace. And peace can be obtained in just one way, by signing the terms laid down by the allies.

Peace is deperately necessary to that country. It cannot maintain itself and keep its people from starvation and the very worst disorders as long as the status of war remains.

Dependent upon the allies for the very food that keeps them alive; knowing very well that the allies have stripped them of every important military advantage which they held prior to the armistice; knowing, too, that the armistice may be terminated by the allies on three days notice at any time, thus releasing for further military operations the battle trained legions now strongly entrenched on both sides of the Rhine—well, the German commissioners will sign.

There may be an effort to quibble over terms. It may be necessary even, for the allies to go to the extreme length of givng notice of the armistce in order to bring the German commissioners to act—a course which would save the faces of those same commissioners with their people at home—but the outcome is not uncertain and we feel not the least uneasiness.—Richmond Virginian.

PRESS AS PULPIT PROP

Presbyterian Church Gives Credit for Gains to Newspaper Advertising.

New York, March 31.—Newspaper advertising was given as one of the chief factors in the success of the Presbyterian Church drive for $40,000,000 for church work at home and overseas, in a statement summarizing the results of the campaign, issued here Thursday by Rev. Dr. Charles Stelzle, publicity director of the drive.

Although complete returns are not in, Dr. Stelzle said, indications are that the Presbyterian Church as a whole has increased its benevolences by 50 per cent. over last year, and it is expected that the figure will go to 100 per cent. by the end of the year.

Dr. Stelzle urged continued use of newspaper advertisements in the membership campaign which is to follow the fund drive.

"There is no agency," he asserted, "which can be made quite so effective as the daily newspaper in enlisting the interest of those who do not go to church.

"It already has an entree into the homes of the people; it is not looked upon with suspicion; it appears every day; the matter it contains is discussed by everyone, and worth while advertisements, paid for by the church and proclaiming religion, will be read by many millions who would never, in the first instance, go to a church to hear it discussed."

Emile, head chef, announced he will return to France rather than attempt to cook without brandy. His assistants nodded agreement.

Chicago and New York face the same problem, according to Ellifritz.

CUT THIS OUT

Special Notice: Dr. Frederick Jacobson says that phosphates are just as essential to any woman who tires easily, is nervous or irritated, worn out or looks haggard and pale, to make a strong, robust, vigorous, healthy body, as they are to make corn, wheat or any vegetable plant grow strong and healthy. The luck of phosphates is the cause of all enemic conditions and the administration of 5-grain Argo-Phosphate Tablets will increase the strength and endurance 500 per cent in a few weeks time in many instances. Dispensed by Richard Gibson and The Rexall Store.

GRAND THEATRE

If you saw "The Wildcat of Paris" you must see "The Wicked Darling" which will come to the Grand theatre tomorrow Priscilla Dean, the wonderful actress who played the title role of that other Universal Special Attraction, is the star of this latest one, and the role she has to play is just as interesting as queen of the Paris Apaches, who becomes a Joan of Arc to save Paris. In "The Wicked Darling," Priscilla plays a girl who had about the same standing before the law in New York City as Collette had in Paris. Only lady thieves in New York do not resort to the knife and the "caress of death." They have to depend on their arts and their quickness.

The story was written by Evelyn Campbell, and the cast includes a wonderful trio of names: Lon Chaney, Spottiswood Aitken and Wellington Playter. There is also to be seen the old buffo-wrestler, Kalla Pasha, for the ever-present comedy relief.

TREASURY CERTIFICATES,

Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness of Series V-A mature May 6, 1919. In view of the determination to open the Victory Liberty Loan campaign April 21, it is apparent that this issue must be refunded before the proceeds of the Loan can reach the Treasury. Accordingly, the Secretary of the Treasury has authorized the Federal Reserve Banks, until further notice, to redeem, in cash before maturity at par and accrued interest to date of redemption, Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness of Series V-A, dated December 5, 1918, at the holder's option, the right being reserved, however, to make such redemption only after ten days' notice, from the holder to the Federal Reserve Bank of the district, of the intention to exercise such option.

For the present and until we are otherwise instructed by the Treasury Department, all Certificates of Series V-A will be redeemed at face value, with accrued interest to the day of receipt by the Federal Reserve Bank, Richmond, Va., In case any certificates are received by us after the receipt from the Treasury Department of an order to require ten days notice from the holder, the application for redemption will be taken as notice of the desire for redemption, and the actual redemption will be made ten days thereafter, with accrued interest to the day of redemption. In every case, prompt notice of the holding of an application for redemption, will be given to the sender.

INGOMAR TONIGHT

Two popular stars, Carlyle Blackwell and Evelyn Greeley, both appear in the newest World-Picture, "By Hook or Crook," will be shown at Ingomar Theatre tonight.

"By Hook or Crook" contains a lot of surprises and a great number of laughs and it is thoroughly entertaining and pleasing from start to finish. It is the sort of a picture that you will talk about and long remember. You are assured of a mighty good time when you see it.

Pearl White in chap. 11 of "Lightning Raiders" also.

FRENCH TROOPS FIGHT "REDS"

Strong Bolshevik Force Crushed by Allies on Viliska Front.

Paris, March 31.—French troops on the left bank of the Dniester have effected connections with Rumanian forces fighting the bolsheviki according to a Rumanian official here yesterday.

Strong Bolsheviki forces were crushed by the Allies in the region of Maja Vilska, he said. On the east bank of the Dniester the French commander lacks proper support for action against the Bolsheviki. The Rumanians are advancing toward Tiraspol and Rasdelnaja.

Serious disorders have occurred at Samaga, a village in southeastern Korea, according to dispatches received in Seoul. It is said that Koreans numbering 100,000 gathered at Samga, cut telegraph wires and set fire to the town hall. Armed with scythes, members of the mob are reported to have attacked the post office and police stations. There was severe fighting and many casualties were inflicted in the clash between the mob and the police and a small detachment of troops. Strong reinforcements have been sent to Samga. Unrest continues throughout the country.

"Students, school boys and cadets! Your country calls on you to join the volunteer corps for the defense of agricultural estates and farms!" This is the latest appeal to the youths of the upper classes advertised in German newspapers and considered by influential persons of conservative opinion to be preparatory to a final battle to re-establish the old regime. Gen. Maerker, one of the founders of the volunteer corps, said the appeal was being made for the upper classes because the workmen had proven "unreliable."

Germany has been invited to send delegates with all speed to Spa to meet Marshal Foch concerning the Danzig difficulty. This announcement is made in a Copenhagen dispatch. The Temps says that the allied and associated governments seem to have decided to disregard the German objections concerning Danzig and to land, by force if necessary, Polish troops at this Baltis seaport.

RICHMOND THEATRE

The girl who stayed at home and wrote letters to her boy "over there" is one of the conspicuous figures in D. W. Griffith's new Artcraft picture. "The Girl Who Stayed at Home," which is being shown at the Richmond theatre today.

D. W. Griffith takes you further than the rocking chair that she knitted in.

Further than the home fires that we've kept burning.

He takes you into the very souls of the "girls who stayed at home."

In France and in America.

D. W. Griffith pictures in bold relief the answer to the question what did she do. Come and see what she did.

The wise mother gives it for croup, whooping cough, measles cough and bronchial coughs.

Foley's Honey and Tar is just as good for grown-ups as for children. For hoarseness, tickling throat, troublesome night coughs, la grippe coughs and chronic coughs of elderly people it is widely recommended. "When our baby was 10 days old he took whooping cough in the worst form, and the paroxysms of cough almost overcame him. Our neighbor suggested Foley's Honey and Tar and that gave him most immediate relief, for which we feel very thankful." Mrs. J. H. Hightower, Odem, Texas.

"My baby was stricken with a severe cough and cold at one month old. I gave him 10 to 15 drops of Foley's Honey and Tar every three hours and it sure did help him." Mrs. B. H. Garrett, Schoolfield, Va.
